The trip of a lifetime

Monday

I've always wanted to visit Japan, and finally I've arrived in Tokyo! It's a massive city of 13 million that sprawls for miles in every direction, with the streets full of traffic and people. But if you get out and look around, you will realise that the traditions of the past are as important as the modern lifestyle of today. We glimpsed an ancient wooden house in the shadow of a glass skyscraper and a young couple at a 400-year-old temple in a beautiful park. They were getting married in their kimonos. And later, we went to a tea ceremony and were served steaming bowls of green tea.

Tuesday

Today we went to the fish market in Tokyo and ate sushi that was made by the chef in front of us. Delicious! Then we went to a performance at a kabuki theatre. The actors wear traditional costumes and their faces are painted white. I found it difficult to understand what was happening because I don't speak Japanese, so I'm glad that I had read about it before we went.

Wednesday

Today we took the bullet train to Osaka. It's called the bullet train because it goes at 320 km an hour. It's famous for its punctuality – the average delay is 36 seconds! Inside, it's comfortable and modern, and the seats can even switch around before the journey to face the direction you're travelling in. As we were speeding along, I heard people exclaiming and pointing out the window. We looked out and saw Mount Fuji's snow-capped peak against the blue sky. It was an amazing sight. Tomorrow, we are travelling to the city of Kyoto. I can't wait! We're going to stay in a traditional guest house at a hot spring, an onsen. I'll post all about that tomorrow.

12 Read the text. Circle the correct options.

 - a skyscraper next to a temple
- Why couldn't the writer understand the play?
 - Her Japanese wasn't good enough.
 - She couldn't see what was happening.
 - She doesn't speak the language.
 - She was bored.
- Why is the bullet train famous?
 - Because it's so comfortable and modern.
 - Because the seats can move.
 - Because it goes fast.
 - Because it always arrives on time.
- Why were the passengers on the train excited?
 - Because it was lunchtime.
 - Because they could see a famous mountain.
 - Because the train was going so fast.
