
ANSWER KEY

Unit 6A

Conversation one

- 1 False. He's being sarcastic when he says That's nice for you!
- 2 True. People there make a mess, it's a hole and they live like pigs!
- 3 False. Nicci wishes Daniel wouldn't go on about it over and over again.
- 4 False. He decides to move out.

Conversation two

- 5 False. The sackable offence is passing on information.
- 6 True. They're launching a new product a week before them.
- 7 False. She added him on Facebook to try and make up with him after she'd gone behind his back to the boss.
- 8 False. She's unhappy that Daniel is spying.

D

- 1 hardly slept at all
- 2 must be deaf
- 3 Well, I'm glad someone
- 4 I've had enough
- 5 go on about
- 6 Either that
- 7 all due respect
- 8 don't pull your weight
- 9 you must be aware
- 10 be a coincidence
- 11 in an attempt to

VIDEO SCRIPT

Conversation 1

- Nicci So, are you ready, then?
- Daniel Yeah, I think so.
- Nicci Then let battle begin! So ... good morning. How are you?
- Daniel Not too great, actually. I've hardly slept at all.
- Nicci Oh no! Sorry to hear that. How come? Worried about your exams?
- Daniel No, it's not that. Well, maybe partly that, yeah, but I couldn't sleep because of the noise! You must've heard it.
- Nicci Yeah, a little bit, I suppose.
- Daniel A little bit! You must be deaf. Honestly! Someone was playing really loud music until about two o'clock ... and talking and laughing and everything! It wasn't you, was it?
- Nicci No, it wasn't. I was sleeping. I've got a lecture this morning, so ...
- Daniel Well, I'm glad someone could sleep! That's nice for you.
- Nicci Listen, you really need to calm down. It's not nice when you start doing all this screaming and shouting. You need to relax. It's not good for your heart.
- Daniel So everything is my fault! Unbelievable! You all make noise and make a mess and leave this place looking awful and don't care about me, and then blame me for being tired. I've had enough. Really!
- Nicci I wish you wouldn't go on about this stuff over and over again. If you want my honest opinion, I think the real problem here is you. You're the only one who gets annoyed by the noise and the mess. The rest of us actually enjoy living here. And if you're really so unhappy, I'd strongly recommend looking for somewhere else! Either that or lighten up and learn to relax and enjoy yourself.
- Daniel Fine, if that's how you feel, then maybe I'll find myself a better place – and leave you pigs to this disgusting hole!
- Nicci OK. Bye! Good luck!

Conversation 2

- Daniel And now for my revenge!
- Nicci The second one?
- Daniel Yes. Step into my office, please.
- Nicci OK. What's up?
- Daniel Well, with all due respect, it's your attitude.
- Nicci My attitude? What's wrong with it?
- Daniel Well, I think you have a bit of an attitude problem, to be honest. You don't pull your weight in the office, you don't take your job seriously enough, you're frequently late and I'm afraid to tell you, I have good reason to believe that you've also passed information on to one of our rivals. And that's a sackable offence, as I'm sure you must be aware.
- Nicci Wow! OK. I don't know what to say. That's a big accusation.
- Daniel I have my reasons for believing it's true. You were the only person who knew about the launch date of the new product, but suddenly I found out through Facebook that our rivals are now launching their product a week earlier! It can't just be a coincidence.
- Nicci Why not? It's possible.
- Daniel Well, I've done my research. I saw that you're friends with one of the sales and marketing people there, and you went out for dinner with him two days before this announcement. A bit strange, isn't it?

Nicci How do you know about that?

Daniel It was on your Facebook page! Or had you forgotten that you added me as a friend in an attempt to make up after you informed my boss about our last little chat.

Nicci Well ... um ... that doesn't prove anything, does it? And I'm not happy that you've been spying on me either.