Transcript 10

- 1 I usually try to sell the things I don't use any more – and that includes any electronic equipment I've got. I've sold quite a few things on the internet: my old laptop, a tablet I never used and a couple of mobile phones. You obviously don't get back as much money as you paid for the device, but if you're lucky, and you're selling several items at the same time, you can make enough to buy something that you really want.

- 2 I found out a few years ago that you can donate old electronic appliances to charity. The charities raise money by recycling or reselling the devices – it's quite surprising how much money they get. There are many different organisations to choose from: children's charities, animal charities, charities that help elderly people – you name it. Whenever I buy a new device, I give the old one to a charity that helps protect endangered tigers.
- 3 There's a recycling point not far from my house, so that's where I take the things you can't put in the normal rubbish: batteries, used ink cartridges from my printer and old electronic gadgets. I wait until I've got a few bags of stuff and then I take everything at once. To be honest, I'm not very sure what happens to the things I take there, but I presume they dispose of them responsibly.
- 4 I've got a box of old electronic devices in a cupboard in my room: it's got an MP3 player, a digital camera and all my old phones – and phone chargers – in it. The problem is that I don't know how to get rid of them. I don't want to throw them away, because I know that they're very harmful to the environment. So I guess the box will just stay there until I move house or something.
- 5 I'm really into technology, so I tend to upgrade my phone quite regularly. That leaves me with the problem of what to do with the old one. I say 'old', but it's usually quite a nice model and, of course, it still works. The last time I upgraded, I gave my old phone to my parents, and the time before that, I passed it on to my little sister. She was really pleased with it, and so were my parents – once they'd worked out how to use it!

- 1 Um, hello. This is Olga Townsend. Um, I've got an appointment with Dr Atkins tomorrow, um, I think it's at 10.15, but let me have a look – no it isn't, it's at 10.45. Well, um, I can't come because I've got an exam at 9.30. Um, I've got another exam tomorrow, but I'm free the next day. Um, could you give me a call this afternoon with a new time? My number's 07700 900492. Thanks a lot.

- Jake Mum, Auntie Pam called while you were out.
- Mum Really, Jake? Did she say anything about tomorrow?
- Jake Yeah, she said Uncle Andrew's not coming. He's got a golf tournament.
- Mum Oh, so she's coming on her own.
- Jake No, Phil's coming with her.
- Mum Ahh. Her son, Phil. Did she say what time they're arriving?
- Jake She said they're getting into the station at 11.15.
- Mum Oh, so they aren't coming by car.
- Jake No. She asked if you could pick them up at Bretonside.
- Mum The coach station?
- Jake That's right. She said the train was too expensive.
- Mum OK, I'll give her a call in a minute.

- 3 Can I have your attention, please? About the photo competition. You remember that the final date was Friday the 5th? Well, we're going to give you another week. Can we have your entries by Thursday the 11th please? Remember that Friday the 12th is a holiday. One more thing, we've changed the categories slightly: we want places now instead of pets. So, there are still two categories, but we want people or places, not people or pets.
- 4 This is the automatic answering service for Tate Modern. Admission to the gallery is free except for special exhibitions. Opening times are: Sunday to Thursday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., last admission 5.15 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., last admission 9.15 p.m. Special exhibitions currently on display are: Marlene Dumas, Adults £16, Students £14, and Agnes Martin, Adults £12, Students £10.50. - Mark Helen!
- Helen Mark, hi! What's up?
- Mark I saw Chris last night, and he told me to tell you the plans for Saturday.
- Helen Saturday? His birthday's on Friday, isn't it?
- Mark Yes, but he's going to celebrate it on Saturday.
- Helen Right. We're all going out for lunch, aren't we?
- Mark No, he's changed his mind. He wants us all to go round to his place in the evening.
- Helen Oh, OK. Is he going to have a large party for all of his friends?
- Mark Well, it's not really a party as such. Just a few friends and family round for a barbecue.
- Helen Nice.
- Mark See you on Saturday at about six, then.
- Helen OK. See you.

Elsa Look at that man!

Ryan Which one?

Elsa The one over there with the selfie stick. Doesn't he look ridiculous?

Ryan I think it's a bit sad, actually. He's on his own, so he hasn't got anyone to take a photo of him.

Elsa He could ask someone else to do it.

Ryan He probably doesn't want to bother anyone.

Elsa Or maybe he's scared that someone might steal his camera!

Ryan Hmm. I think selfie sticks are a good idea. I mean, they stop you getting your arm in the shot when you're trying to take a selfie.

Elsa But it's something else to carry, isn't it? It's all very well using it to take photos with, but what do you do with it the rest of the time?

Ryan I guess it depends how many photos you take! No, seriously, I suppose it could get in the way a bit. Apparently, they've been banned in some places.

Elsa Have they? Why's that?

Ryan Because they're dangerous. They could damage the paintings in an art gallery, for example.

- Elsa Yes, and it must be a real pain if you're trying to look at the pictures and there's someone posing in front of them all the time.
- Ryan I'd find that annoying too.
- Elsa Loads of people have got them now though, haven't they?
- Ryan Yes, and they aren't all exactly cheap either.
- Elsa Really? How much does a selfie stick cost?
- Ryan I guess it depends on the quality, but I've seen them advertised for about €50.
- Elsa That's a lot!
- Ryan Yes, it is. You can get cheaper ones, but they probably aren't as good. Don't worry though, you won't be getting one for your birthday!
- Elsa Good! I wouldn't want one.
